

Dear Delegates,

We hope you are having a great start of the year!

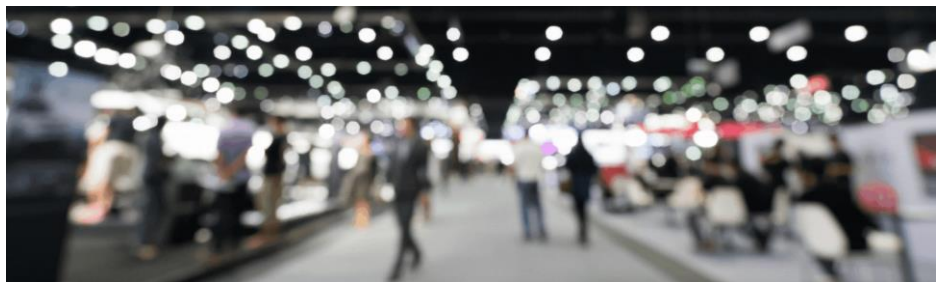

Did you know that so many big events are happening in Barcelona in 2022? Tech, sports, music, culture – and yes, the global seed sector is gathering there too. We at ISF and the Spanish National Organizing Committee (NOC) cannot wait to see you on 16-18 May to reconnect with friends and business partners in the seed industry.

What's new in 2022?

The congress this year will be truly special as the global seed sector gears up to meet again in person. WSC 2022 is centered on business and driving the industry's key priorities through deeper engagement with the value chain.

The Exhibition Area's look is refreshed with modern, open-design booths for better interaction between exhibitors and delegates. It will be centrally located at level -1, the heart of the congress center, providing excellent visibility.

A youth-focused event will be held on Tuesday to gather inventive insights and solutions that could help us as an established global industry to renew and think out-of-the-box on how our sector can better communicate its added value to stakeholders.

Not ready to decide yet?

During the past two years the world had to learn that not everything can be planned. ISF is taking all measures to organize a safe congress for everybody. We also understand that for you as a delegate, future travels are unpredictable – and Omicron does not help in this situation. Taking this into account, there is only one registration fee to give you all the time you need.

To prepare the congress as best as possible, you would help us a lot by letting us know (not binding) if you plan to attend the ISF WSC 2022. You can simply indicate your interest to join by filling out this form.
